

William Feather, metal trades writer, has spotted an amusing fact about budget-making — if we give the government half-columbia for not living within its income the balancing of a family budget is just as complicated and difficult.

Writing in Imperial Type Metal magazine he reports:

"The budget editor of a newspaper solicits inquiries from frantic housewives and career women who are unable to make ends meet. The clients tell the editor what their weekly or monthly incomes are, after taxes. They state their rent or mortgage payments, the age of their automobile, and the number of the household who must be fed and clothed."

"The task of the budgeteer is to prepare a table indicating the distribution of the money, down to the last penny."

"What makes us feel sorry for the budget editor is this: From her tables it is obvious that she is under stern pressure to include items that could ordinarily be overlooked. Obviously the cost of a newspaper must be included. The church and community fund demand a proper share be set aside for them. The movies and interlards of entertainment are advertised, so they must be reckoned with."

"When everything has been put down, not much is left for the automobile."

"The budget editor gets around this by grossly underestimating the cost of a car. She usually puts down $20 a month, which might cover depreciation but certainly not license, insurance, operation, and repairs. But nobody cares about this little white lie."

"The honest answer to most of these inquiries would be to advise a cut in the way of living, or to suggest an increase in income by taking in a roomer, and working part-time during off hours."

"That's Mr. Feather for you."

"Maybe the budget figures almost as closely now as it did back in 1933-34, when America was beginning to come out of the depression. The story current back then went like this:

"The bookkeeper came in and said:

"Boss, we're out of the red."

"Fine," said the boss. "Now we'll do some writing in black ink."

"But we don't have any black ink," said the bookkeeper.

"Well, go out and buy a bottle of black ink," said the boss.

"None," said the bookkeeper, "because if I do, we'll be back in the red again."

County Loses Seat in State Legislature

Little Rock, May 16 — (AP) — Pulaski and Ouachita counties today obtained another seat in the Arkansas house of representatives — at the expense of Miller and Hempstead counties.

The additional seats were given to the two counties by the Arkansas board of reapportionment, composed of Governor McMath, Attorney General Murry and Secretary of State Hall.

The reapportionment was made necessary by shifts in population. The 1950 federal census was used as the basis for the board's contention that Pulaski county (Little Rock), which has more than one-tenth of the state's population, was entitled to another senator. His proposal was voted down, however, by Murry and Hall.

A court test of this action was threatened by Biley of Little Rock, father of Bob Riley, an unsuccessful candidate for the state senate last year.

Action on redistricting the house was unanimous. Pulaski's house delegation was increased from seven to eight, and Ouachita received two representatives instead of one. Miller county's delegation was cut from three to two and Hempstead's from two to one.

Had Governor McMath's proposal to add a third senator to Pulaski county been adopted, it would automatically cut the terms of all state senators from four to two years. All 35 members of senate would have been forced to seek reelection in 1952.

Hope-Texas Road Critical Says McMath

Little Rock, May 16 — (AP) — Governor McMath wants the state's primary roads improved, but he also thinks some consideration should be given to the secondary road system.

The governor says he will ask the Arkansas highway commission Friday to allot the next $7,000,000 available under the present construction program for second ary road system.

"I realize," McMath said, "that we get most of the money to construct and maintain the roads from the primary highways, but at the same time it is important to give those folks out the main line an outlet for their commerce. That's why I'm not interested in sacrificing the secondary system."

McMath said also that he'd ask the commission to give priority to "four" critical stretches of highways 67 and 70 under the commission's present policy of emphasis on main roads. He listed these stretches as between Little Rock and Benton, Hoxie and Alicia, Hope and Texarkana, and Gurdon and Arkadelphia.

The highway department already is at work on plans for all four projects listed by McMath.

70 Homes Already Sprayed in Hempstead

During the first two weeks of spray operations, Hempstead county DDT spray crews treated 70 homes. This announcement was made by a local representative of the health department today.

"Acceptance of the program by the householders of Hempstead county is very encouraging," reported John Goodwin, local insect vector control supervisor. He added that reports from other counties indicate that good acceptance of house spraying is general throughout the state.

The County Vector Control Office hopes that a large majority of the houses in the county will have been treated with DDT and Chlor-dan insecticides by the time malaria mosquitoes become a problem.

OPS to Check on Livestock Slaughtering

Washington, May 16 — (AP) — A nation-wide inquiry into reports of illegal livestock slaughtering was ordered today by Price Enforcement Director Edward F. Morgan.

Morgan said all districts enforcement agents have been directed to check on class 2 slaughterers who were reported to have been in business last year but who have not registered in 1951 as required by price regulations.

A class 2 slaughterer is one who does not have his products federally inspected.

Morgan said there were an estimated 12,000 to 15,000 such slaughterers last year. He said office of price stabilization OPS records show only about 11,000 have registered this year.

OPS orders require a slaughterer to get a registration number in order to slaughter livestock legally. He must have such a number before he can receive such a quota of livestock for slaughtering.

Morgan said the difference between the number of slaughterers reported in operation last year and the number now registered is the basis of reports of possible illegal slaughtering.

He said OPS agents also will check on registered slaughterers to see whether they are keeping within their legal quota.

Crittenden Starts Tearing Down Bridge

West Memphis, May 16 — (AP) — Despite strong opposition from Memphis city officials, Crittenden county went ahead today with plans to rip up Ithaca bridge's wagonways and salvage the steel.

County Judge W. K. Ingram said warning signs were being painted for barricades. He notified the bridge owner of the county decision yesterday.

Ingram's decision was telephoned to W. E. Lamb, president of the Arkansas & Memphis Bridge & Terminal Co. The company has nervously watched the Arkansas-Memphis squabble over the rarely used wagonways, fearing it will be drawn into a legal tangle.

Lamb said the company would like to see the wagonways torn off the Harahan primarily a railroad bridge — but definitely didn't want to be involved in any court fight. Memphis city officials have threatened to take the matter to court.

Crittenden county has authority to raze the Arkansas half of the wagonways and keep half of the salvaged steel, valued at about $100,000. The contract was signed after the state highway department said it would not spend any more money to maintain the wagonways.

Memphis officials, backed by administration Leader E. H. Crump, contend the wagonways are essential to civil defense as an auxiliary in case bombing damages the new Memphis and Arkansas bridge across the Mississippi.

Dean Morley to Keep Revenue Job

Council Not to Replace Dunn, Will Split Salary With Other Officers on Police Force

Much discussion in last night's regular council meeting at Hope City Hall was devoted to the police department which has lost two of its regulars within the last few weeks.

One, L. Sparks has already been replaced on the force, but the group decided not to replace Bernard (Happy) Dunn who officially resigned yesterday to take another job.

Instead the council voted to take the salary for another officer and use it for pay increases to the rest of the force. This amounts to about $25 per month increase to each man. The scale, effective May 15, is Chief of Police $240; Assistant Chief $225 and Patrolmen $215.

This action leaves the police department with six men and the Chief.

Management of municipal swimming pool also poses another problem which will be left up to the Mayor and park committee. Several possible managers were discussed.

The Board of Public Affairs recommended that the city purchase a street flusher for $5,397.50, this fund being paid out of the parking meter money. The motion carried.

W. W. Andrews, local insurance agent, asked the council for a share job as city's business. At the present the city carries $180,000 worth of insurance, excluding the water and light plant, on public buildings and equipment. The matter was discussed at length and was left with the Mayor to appoint a committee to study and make recommendations.

An ordinance to vacate and abandon part of street in the Frisco Addition was read for the third time and passed.

A limit of two acres was placed on tracts of grass being cut by the city.

A five-day embargo has been transplanted from one cow to another by scientists at the University of Wisconsin.

No Intention of Resigning, Acheson Says

Washington, May 16 — (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson said today he has "no intention" of resigning and intends to stay in the administration "as long as the President wants me to stay."

Acheson was asked about his attitude toward his mob at a news conference and made this comment which he later authorized for direct quotation:

"I have no intention of resigning. The matter has been talked about many times and my position has been stated many times. I am listed for the duration and am prepared to stay as long as the President wants me to stay."

Acheson was asked about heavy fire from Republican congressmen and there have been periodic reports that he was quitting. President Truman told his news conference last week there was no foundation in fact for the reports.

The subject came up at Acheson's news conference when a reporter asked what his intentions about resigning were. He led off by saying that question was an old friend, then went on to state his position.

Reds Pour Out of Hills, Hit Eastern Front

Bradley Denies He Was Told What to Say

Washington, May 16 — (AP) — In an angry argument at the senate MacArthur hearings today, a Republican suggested the White House was putting an "iron curtain" over witnesses and got a sharp denial from Gen. Omar Bradley that there was one on him.

It was a climactic moment in a session that broke off questioning of Bradley about the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and brought hot debate on whether Bradley should talk about his private talks with Pres. Truman on firing the Far Eastern commander.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) said Bradley's stand that the talks were a confidential matter, not to be testified to raised a question whether the White House was dropping an "iron curtain" about witnesses.

Bradley, apparently looking on the issue as having political implications, told the senators he was neither a Democrat nor a Republican and had never voted. He added:

"Now the statement has been made here to the effect that the 'Iron Curtain' has been pulled down over my testimony. I do not think it has, Mr. Chairman."

"I have only declined to answer one question on a confidential basis."

"I am perfectly willing, as I say, to give what I think is pertinent and that is the conclusion reached at these conferences: (with the President) and I am perfectly willing to tell you the reasons advanced by the three chiefs of staff when they gave their reasons (for MacArthur's dismissal) to General Marshall."

Bradley also said he had been "referred to here yesterday as the President's witness." He added: "I thought I was the committee's witness."

Bradley had refused yesterday to tell what he and Mr. Truman said to each other in their talks. And today, the White House said Mr. Truman does not want him to tell.

Nevertheless, some Republicans on the inquiry panel — made up of the senate armed services and foreign relations committees — were insistent that Bradley should talk.

White Bradley sat silently for the most part in the witness chair for more than two hours today, the senators argued heatedly. Charges implied and direct, of trying to play politics figured in the debate.

Part Time Farmers Can Also Get Loans

Hempstead county farmers and part-time farmers now have an opportunity to secure funds to remodel or repair dwellings on a basis similar to city residents.

Long-term loans are also available at the Hempstead County Farmers Home Administration Office for repair to other farm buildings.

W. M. Sparks, Hempstead County Farmers Home Administration Supervisor, states that these loans are made at 4 per cent interest, repayable from 5 to 25 years. Applications for loans to do needed building improvements should be made through the Farmers Home Administration Office, located at Hope, Arkansas. All applications for loans are reviewed by a county committee composed of the following three local citizens: Earl Marlande, O. E. Egan, and Emory Thompson. This committee makes a determination as to the eligibility of applicants and recommends the amount of loan funds to be advanced. Mr. Marlande, chairman of the Hempstead County Farmers Home Administration Committee, stated that the structures repaired or remodeled should be of a sound and substantial structure so as to provide security for the loan.

The members of the local FHA committee are enthusiastic over this type of service which has not heretofore been available in Hempstead county. "A considerable number of farm families have already availed themselves of this type of loan service."

Loans may also be made for new dwellings and other farm buildings essential to the operation of the farm.

Armed Convict Escapes State Prison

Cummins State Prison Farm May 16 — (AP) — An armed convict escaped from Cummins prison farm early today after overpowering a warden and a trusty in a nearby wooded section.

The fugitive, Herbert Lee Craig, 31, of Monticello, Ark., made his getaway in a new pickup truck taken from Warden F. A. Clay. Penitentiary Supt. Lee Henlee said Craig jumped Clay and an unidentified trusty in the woods. He overpowered them and took their weapons, a .45 caliber revolver and a .38 caliber pistol.

Prison officials said Craig, who was serving a nine-year sentence for burglary, jumped on a horse that was being moved at the farm and rode into the woods. Warden Clay, who apparently didn't know who the convict was, on the horse, drove his truck into the woods after the animal. He was jumped there by the convict. Arkansas State Police have alerted law enforcement officers in south Arkansas.

U. S. Desires to Extend Atlantic Pact

Washington, May 16 — (AP) — The U. S. has opened talks with other members of the North Atlantic alliance to find out whether they will agree to extend the security system into the Middle East and several of the other 11 members in the past have been shortly opposed to extending the pact system into the Middle East and some of the best informed officials here doubt they will change their positions readily.

However, foreign diplomats indicated that upon U. S. suggestion the British government was willing to review its opposition and consider a change. This may also be true of other member governments.

The fact the U. S. is undertaking these talks at all means this government favors membership for the two year eastern countries — and perhaps other Mediterranean lands — as the best way in its view of meeting the continued demands for an American backed protection against the threat of Communist attack.

A London story yesterday said the U. S. ambassador there, Walter Gifford, had asked the British government for support in an effort to include Greece and Turkey as full members in the North Atlantic Treaty organization. After first declining comment, the state department said last night there are "valid reasons" for considering security arrangements for Greece and Turkey, but did not say what those reasons are.

The department added that this government has opened talks with the British and France on the subject since they already have treaties with Turkey.

Britain and France are two of the chief members of the Atlantic alliance. The state department reported that "because membership in NATO would be one method for providing for the security arrangements, we expect also to discuss the subject in the near future with the governments of all countries in NATO."

If the Washington idea of broadening the treaty — which requires unanimous agreement of present members — does not go through then the government here probably will fall back upon some alternative plan such as a Mediterranean or near Eastern alliance supplementing the European one.

Congress May Reject Price, Defense Acts

Washington, May 16 — (AP) — The chairman of the senate banking committee says the defense production act and the wage-price controls act authorities are in danger of rejection by congress.

"I want to warn the administration," Senator Maybank (D-N.C.) told Price Director Michael V. DiSalle, that "I do not know if there is going to be any extension." The present law expires June 30. Maybank's committee is holding hearings on President Truman's request that DPA be extended, broadened and strengthened.

Maybank ordered a closed session today to explore with Secretary of Agriculture Brannan how far he plans to go if congress does extend the act and grants powers to pay subsidies on farm products to keep consumer prices down.

Maybank said defense officials feared premature disclosure of what crops Brannan had in mind might send their prices soaring. He said Brannan also would testify at a public hearing immediately after the closed one.

The committee gave DiSalle a rough going over at a hearing yesterday. Maybank said, "It is going to be very, very hard to get any bill passed at all."

KISS FOR A "GOOD SOLDIER"—Gen. Douglas MacArthur kisses his wife, Jean, tenderly and wipes away her tears after presenting her with a medalion for "valor." The medalion was awarded Mrs. MacArthur by her home town, Murfreesboro, Tenn., for her courage and bravery in the Far East. Said the general's lady: "I guess I'm not such a good soldier after all. I'm going to cry."

Woman Shot by Son, Succumbs

Little Rock, May 16 — (AP) — Mrs. Vina Bursott, 81, whose son was arrested after she was wounded by a shot from a shotgun on May 4, died at a hospital at Jacksonville, near here, yesterday.

The son, B. W. Bursott, 52, former Little Rock pool hall operator, had been charged with assault to kill before his mother's death. The shooting occurred at Mrs. Bursott's home near Jacksonville.

Dr. Howard A. Dishongh, Pulaski county coroner, said Mrs. Bursott received shotgun pellets in the left arm and side. She also had suffered a brain injury, which may have been caused by a blow, he said.

Deputy sheriffs said Bursott denied any knowledge of the shooting. They said he told them he found his mother wounded in the yard of their home.

Congress to Air Grain to India Bill

Washington, May 16 — (AP) — The senate agreed today to begin voting on the disputed bill to ship 2,000,000 tons of grain — mostly wheat — to combat famine in India. Passage seemed assured during the afternoon.

The first amendment to be considered would provide that all the $180,000,000 worth of U. S. food would be paid for by a loan from the U. S. to India. The senate agreed to limit debate both on amendments and final passage.

As it emerged from the foreign relations committee, the measure provided that half of the grain should be a gift and half paid for by a loan.

But Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), who headed a bi-partisan group of 31 senators in sponsoring the bill, announced on the floor yesterday he would be willing to accept the change to a straight loan basis.

This signified the amendment probably would be approved, although some of the sponsors, such as Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) still insisted all of the grain should be donated to India. This was the suggestion of President Truman, passing along to congress India's request for help.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), who offered the amendment for a 1 per cent loan, said India itself had not asked for a gift.

A grant, he said, would be "a pa of a carefree grandiose, global giveaway philosophy."

Smith backed Ferguson, contending that the Indian government had indicated it would prefer a straight loan to the half grant-half loan basis.

Debate in the senate has centered on two points aside from humanitarian motive — the need to prevent India from falling into the Communist orbit and the possibility that short 1951 crops may lead to a pinch in the U. S. grain supply next year.

Communist propaganda has recently made much of the delay in enacting the relief legislation which Mr. Truman asked several months ago.

A Moscow broadcast recorded here yesterday said "America imperialists" are attempting a "blackmail" India "to give" support to their bloody intervention in Korea and to capture rich Indian resources of strategic raw materials.

Strikers Soap Track, Halt Train

El Dorado, May 16 — (AP) — A Missouri Pacific switch engine puffed and tugged for nearly two hours yesterday in an attempt to move 20 freight cars up a slight incline.

The train was attempting to take the empty cars out of the struck Lion Oil Chemical plant. Movement into the plant had gone off without incident.

It was reported today that the tracks had been soaped; the engine was unable to get sufficient traction to make the pull.

The engine made it out of the plant okay after trainmen "unhooked" the empty car.

The International Association of Machinists (AFL) is on strike against the Lion Oil company's plant.

Club Women Hear Talk on Korea

Houston, Tex., May 16 —(AP)—The end of the war in Korea is not in sight, the general said. And he added: "But when the end does come, it will come when that country is on as good a basis as I was before war started."

Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor assistant chief of staff of the army, spoke these words at the national defense forum last night at the 80th annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The American army in Korea will match the best we had in the last war, he said.

"It's a feeling of 'bring 'em on'—we can take what you've got."

"And remember—you talk about unlimited Chinese manpower—but a trained, armed Chinese manpower is not unlimited."

"It's like a preflight. We don't know what round we're in. But this I can say—the enemy has been on the floor twice. He's getting up again, but he's getting up very slowly."

Two thousand delegates from 14,500 women's clubs in the United States and Alaska listened intently to General Taylor, to Nelson A. Rockefeller, chairman of the international development advisory board; and to Millard F. Caldwell, Jr., federal civil defense administrator.

They applauded when Rockefeller declared: "We can't live in a world community unless we make up our minds whether we're in it or out of it."

Romantic Comedy Opens at Saenger

The career and extra-curricular romantic activities of an airline stewardess form the novel and engaging subject of M.G.M.'s "Three Guys Named Mike," current attraction at the Saenger theatre.

Jane Wyman is cast as the picture's appealing heroine, with the three guys named Mike played respectively by Van Johnson as a shy graduate research student in chemistry, Howard Keel as a virile American Airlines pilot, and Barry Sullivan as a suave advertising executive.

In a fast-moving narrative punctuated with sparkling dialogue and infectious humor, the story depicts Miss Wyman's rigorous training as an airline stewardess, her preliminary blunders after she graduates from the training school and gets her first job on the plane piloted by Keel, and the subsequent career in which she proves herself not only a knowing and efficient sky-riding hostess but also the apple of the eye of the pilot, the chemistry researcher and the successful ad man. It takes a spectacular free-for-all, no-holds-barred fight upon the part of the trio of editors before Miss Wyman can decide which she wants as her partner for life and we think it only fair to let the spectator follow the outcome for himself, rather than give away the ending.

What we can tell you, however, is that the Academy Award-winning Miss Wyman has one of her most gratifying roles as the heroine, Marcy, who shows herself to be adept at handling any emergency that can occur among passengers in an airplane—including that of keeping away the inevitable "wolves." It is a captivating performance filled with bounce, buoyant humor and charm. The three Mikes are admirably played, as well, with Van Johnson perfectly cast as the brilliant but self-effacing expert on "bioluminescence" who tempts her on the side to help defray his expenses; Howard Keel giving a straightforward portrayal of a typical American airplane pilot; and Barry Sullivan in fine fettle as the advertising ace ready to set the world on fire with a campaign on a new soap.

Charles Walters, who has directed his first non-musical picture in "Three Guys Named Mike," this last bit with "Summer Stock" shows that he doesn't need dancing girls to put over first-rate entertainment. Particularly effective are his sequences showing the behind-the-scenes activities of the American Airlines Stewardess School, and particularly funny are such post-graduation episodes as that in which the neophyte hostess begins her new duties on a plane by leaving the passengers' lunch behind, or that in which she brings about unexpected pandemonium by unleashing an over-impetuous wire-haired terrier.

Also aiding in the success of "Three Guys Named Mike," are its producer, Armand Deutsch; Sidney Sheldon, responsible for the smart, tightly-packed screen play; and Ruth Brooks Flippen, who authored the original story from suggestions made by Ethel "Pug" Wells, an American Airlines stewardess. It all adds up to an interesting and diverting photoplay that will capture the fancy of millions of filmgoers.

OEEC to Help Administer Marshal Plan
Strasbourg, France, May 6 —(AP)—Western Europe's consultative assembly ended a 10-day session last night with a bid for more power.

By a vote of 64 to 2 the assembly asked the council of Europe's upper house, the committee of ministers, for changes in its basic statute.

One of the most important demands was for a measure of control over other European organizations—notably the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC).

The OEEC, some of whose members do not belong to the council of Europe, helps American authorities administer the Marshall plan. It tends to think of itself as an agency that does things and of the Council of Europe as a mere "talking shop."

The assembly, on the other hand, advised the OEEC yesterday to work on "current problems" rather than think about "past achievement." It was clear the assembly thought the OEEC was not doing enough.

Another assembly resolution urged the committee of ministers to sponsor establishment of a joint resources board to allocate scarce raw materials among nations of the non-Communist world. The resolution asked the committee to approach the United States and British commonwealths on creation of such an agency, which would include all 15 members of the council as well as the U. S. and the dominions and overseas territories of council members.

The assembly's next full meeting will be in the fall.

Milk Prices at Memphis Cut

Memphis, May 16 —(AP)—The price of milk dropped a penny here today, making the retail cost of a quart 20 cents.

Raymond Skinner, a major distributor, said the drop gave Memphis the lowest milk prices south of the Ohio river.

He said the cutback was possible because of lowered bulk prices using pasturage.

DOROTHY DIX Take A Job?

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I are ardent readers of your column. We are very happily married, but nevertheless feel that your writings have helped keep us on our toes. So it is not for myself I am writing. My folks always insisted that before I married I should master a well-paying and socially satisfying profession. That I did, and people have often told me that our marriage was bound to fail because I had entered it with the idea that I did not have to be dependent upon a man who might make me unhappy. It is to these people I wish you would address a column.

You see, we are friendly with a couple who have two children. He is, to sum it up in one word, a rascal, and they are very unhappy together. She has no profession to fall back on and therefore must continue to live with her husband. If she had learned a profession before she was married, things might be entirely different now.

Could you, please for the sake of those young girls who rush into marriage, mention the importance of being able to do a job outside of housekeeping and clerking in a store?

YOLANDA

Answer: What a wise family you had, Yolanda, to insist on your learning a profession, and how wise you were to accede to their wishes. Only a very short-sighted person would feel that a marriage was doomed simply because she was trained for a job he could not do. It is to these people I wish you would address a column.

Disaster May Come

Your romance is surrounded by a rosy aura that will not be dimmed by the dark forebodings of disaster that may come later. And these disasters hit the happiest marriages a high too frequently. Even if a couple remain compatible and have no recourse to the divorce courts, there is the possibility of a husband's long illness basing reverses or a call by Uncle Sam, which many young husbands may have to heed ere long. In all these instances it could be a tremendous lift, financially and morally if the wife could step into a well-paying job or profession for the period of emergency.

Now let's turn to the cheerful side. Even though you may never be confronted with the material difficulties of matrimony, your training will be a wonderful asset to you. As a professional woman you will enjoy a high standing among the women of your community and will be better able to contribute to the civic betterment of your town or city. You will have a better knowledge of economics, and your home should be more efficiently run than that of an untrained and uneducated woman if your particular field of endeavor has included schooling in nursing, teaching or psychology.

The problems presented by your children will be easier for you to handle. In a multitude of other ways you are well equipped to maintain a happy, beautiful and busy household.

While a thorough professional training does not always turn out a well-balanced woman, capable of making a success of marriage, the odds are in her favor.

Dear Miss Dix: I go around with a boy whom I am crazy about and I intend to marry him some day. I am much more intelligent than he is. That is true and not conceit. And I come from a more cultured family. Naturally it is my family's wish to have me marry a person like myself. Do you think if I married this boy I would be happy?

BEWILDERED

Answer: No, I don't think you would have a chance of being happy. Neither would he. There can be no greater gulf between a husband and a wife than that of intelligence.

It is bad enough when the husband is more intelligent and more cultured than the wife, but when the wife has a better brain and a better education than the husband it is a tragedy. Men like to feel superior to their wives, but it crushes a woman to be married to a man who is her inferior. Nor can any man endure the situation with fortitude. He has been the lord of creation too long to be willing to play second fiddle to any woman even his wife. He soon rebels at his subordinate position.

The feeling that you have for this boy who you know to be your inferior is merely physical infatuation. If you marry him, that will soon pass and then you will find that you have nothing in common. Don't do it for his sake as well as for your own.

DOROTHY DIX cannot answer personal mail. For teenagers thinking of marriage, she has writ-

Coalition Is Sought by Wright

Palm Beach, Fla., May 15 —(AP)—Governor Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi wants unhappy Republicans to join Democrats in 1952 in a third party coalition under the banner of States' Rights and Americanism.

Wright was one of the leaders of the Southern Democrats' rebellion in 1948.

He told the National Cottonseed Products association yesterday that "Both major parties have betrayed their first seeking votes of minority interests" and "knowing their followers will still go along because they have no other place to go."

The old traditional Republican party is too reactionary to inspire confidence of the American people and I am convinced will not be returned to office.

He suggested Democrats in-

Plymouth's New "Safety-Flow Ride" Takes Bounce Out of Bumps

MOTION PICTURES made by our engineers show how little the new Plymouth goes up and down when passing over a bump, compared to cars that do not have the new "Safety-Flow Ride." New Oriflow shock absorbers, along with balanced weight distribution, synchronized springing, and other engineering features, hold the car closer to a level plane. They give Plymouth the riding qualities of a car weighing a thousand pounds more, in the opinion of Tom McCahill, automotive expert, writing in Mechanix Illustrated.

OUR TEST DRIVERS repeatedly drove the new Plymouth across ditches and deep holes. Instead of the terrific pitching and tossing you'd expect, the car absorbed the impact and stayed under easy control.

"SAFETY-FLOW RIDE" IS SO STEADY, even on rough roads, that you don't even think about giving rear seat passengers a row or thump. This means your mind as well as bodily comfort. It's relaxed and restful—a complete new experience in riding comfort.

HEADS UP! With "Safety-Flow Ride" you forget about the condition of the road immediately in front of the car and give your attention to upcoming traffic and intersections ahead.

YOUR PLYMOUTH DEALER WOULD LIKE TO ARRANGE A DEMONSTRATION.

Portsmouth, N. H., May 16 — A double-pronged investigation was underway today at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard after a month's delay following the American Legion official charges that Communist cell capable of sabotage was operating there.

The navy at Boston said the navy intelligence and the federal bureau of investigation were investigating the assertion made publicly yesterday by Frank Sawyer, a lieutenant of the New Hampshire American Legion.

At the same time, Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said he has asked the house un-American activities committee to inquire into the charges.

An aide to Senator Bridges said a spokesman to the house committee promised a week ago that one of its investigators would report to Portsmouth "in the near future." He said no further word had come from the committee.

Bridges said the committee Secretary John L. Sullivan to investigate Communist activities at the yard in 1947 but heard nothing from him. Sullivan has since resigned.

Sawyer said the Legion has been investigating the shipyard since

Actor's Wife Is Improving

Hollywood, May 15 — (AP) Mr. James Stewart continues to show improvement, Cedars of Lebanon hospital reported today.

The 37-year-old wife of the actor has rallied from the critical condition of Sunday, which followed her third operation in less than a week.

She gave birth to twin girls May 7 and had to undergo operations for an intestinal obstruction twice after that.

The mosque at Medina, Saudi Arabia, is second only to Mohammed's birthplace at Mecca as an Islamic shrine.

Further consolidation of Big Three (Britain, France America) policies for Far East was achieved when the U. N. sanctions committee, which includes these great powers, voted a world-wide ban on shipments of war goods to Red China.

There remain several more steps before the measure becomes effective. However, a big hurdle has been taken towards Big Three unity which is what counts.

The first break in the embargo issue came last week just after former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill made a dramatic plea for Big Three unity in the house of commons. The shipment of war materials to China was then a burning issue.

The men who skippered England through the last war took for commons that preservation of the friendliest relations with the U. S. is a matter of life and death, not only for Britain but for all Western Europe. There could have been more blunt, hardheaded pleading, and said that the expediency

Decisions should be based on the basis of the common sense — one for all and all for one of the western hemisphere recognize that Europe has a Press dispatch from London ports:

And what is the corollary? Well, from this observation looks like consultation agreement — by compromise — among the allied.

Says Co-op Ruining AP&L Expansion

Little Rock, May 16 (AP)—The president of the Arkansas Power and Light Company says that financing of a $11,600,000, six-year construction program by his company is threatened by continued expansion of the government-operated Southwestern Power administration.

C. Hamilton Moses made the statement yesterday as a witness before the Arkansas public service commission opposing proposed construction of a 30,000 kilowatt steam plant near Clark by Arkansas Electric Co-operative Corporation.

Like other opponents of the AEECC's application, Moses criticized a "tie-up" between the cooperative, formed by three rural districts, and SPA.

PIN-WORMS

GO! • Jayne's P-W Gets Real Results

Fidgeting, nose-picking and embarrassing rectal itches are often told to be signs of the Pin-Worm parasite that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Either way, you may be victim and not know it.

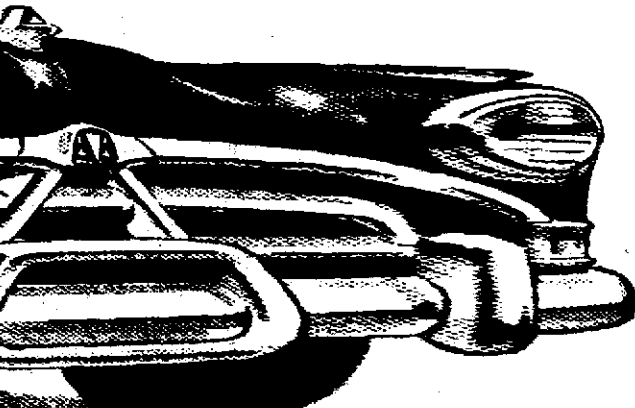

To get rid of these worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the larvae infestation time where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do - and here's how:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels where they dissolve. Then, Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills the Worms and drives them out.
